The Governor has received a letter from the Ohio Jamestown Commission thanking him for his able and patriotic address on Ohio Day at the exposition.

On the evening of October 4th the Governor and Mrs. Swanson will tender a reception to the Governor of Pennsylvania and party from 9 to 11 P. M. at the Virginia Building.

Practical Schools.

School Examiner E. H. Russell, of Jamestown, visited the Department of Education yesterday, and when asked concerning the prospects for the public schools in the State this year, said they were never so bright before. Mr. Russell declares there is every promise of increased interest and attendance everywhere. He attributes this to several causes. The patrons are taking more interest than ever before; better and more comfortable houses have been built, and in many instances better teachers have been attracted by larger salaries.

Secretary R. C. Stearns, of the State Board of Education, went to Lester Manor yesterday to look after the opening of the Indian school on the Pamunkey reservation. He will return to the city to-day.

Brief Capitol Notes.

Commissioner of Insurance Joseph Dutton and Deputy Commissioner J. S. Brennan were both absent from the city yesterday, having gone down the river to the Jamestown Exposition with the delegates to the Insurance Commissioners' Convention, which has just adjourned. They will return here to-morrow.

Colonel J. Lane Stern, who is making the annual inspection of the State militia, went to Petersburg yesterday, and last night inspected Company G, Seventy-second Regiment, in that city.

The inspector goes from there to Chatham City, and will return here to-night or to-morrow.

Adjutant-General Anderson has been notified that Corporal Hudson, Council of Company I, Seventy-first Infantry, Franklin, Va., has been promoted to the lieutenant of his company.

Mr. Earl G. Swen, the new Assistant State Librarian, will arrive here to-morrow, and will assume his new duties on Monday.

CHURCH WINS LONG FIGHT FOR RIGHTS

Ruling of Judge Ingram Complete Victory for Vestry of St. John's.

CITY MAY TAKE APPEAL

Mayor Has Not Yet Determined on Course, However—Action of Court.

Decision of Court.

The injunction now for as prayed for enjoining the building of the memorial chapel will be denied, but the vestry of St. John's Church, which is one of the secretaries of the international committee of the associations, and is ranked by many as the greatest speaker in the world to men, Mr. Virgo is from Australia, and is a leading one. Last night a dinner and reception were given to these two distinguished guests by the board of directors of the Richmond Association. To the social to-night all senior members are invited, with their men friends, also students of the Medical College of Virginia, the University College of Medicine, Massey and Smith College Business College, and Richmond College. There will be two hours of fun and entertainment. The various organizations of the city are invited, and the ladies of the city are invited. The ladies of the city are invited.

Unless the opinion rendered yesterday by Judge Ingram, the Law and Equity Court, is set aside, the vestry of St. John's Church may proceed with the erection of the Whitaker Memorial Chapel. The vestry has already won a victory for those who have resisted the contention of Mayor McCarthy and the City Council of Richmond. Judge Ingram holds that there is no technical or legal reason permanently to restrain the vestry from carrying out a program, long ago arranged.

Whether the city will appeal to the Supreme Court is a matter that has not been determined. Mayor McCarthy and City Attorney Pollard have not decided whether to appeal. They will do so, however, and if that course is taken Court, in all probability, will have to sanction it. Inasmuch as it will require an appropriation.

In effect, the opinion of Judge Ingram is that the historical document, the court deals with the erection of the old church in which Patrick Henry delivered his memorable address, and that the erection of a chapel will bring about the desecration of graves, long forgotten. If any memorial is covered by the building, the church authorities will be required by the decree to erect suitable tablets, which shall recite the memorabilia, and preserve the inscriptions. Likewise, the court believes that the cause of the Master can be best advanced by the addition of a chapel for religious instruction.

Many Chances Since Rejection.

After rejecting the main fact involved in the litigation, Judge Ingram says: "The vestry of St. John's Church, which is one of the secretaries of the international committee of the associations, and is ranked by many as the greatest speaker in the world to men, Mr. Virgo is from Australia, and is a leading one. Last night a dinner and reception were given to these two distinguished guests by the board of directors of the Richmond Association. To the social to-night all senior members are invited, with their men friends, also students of the Medical College of Virginia, the University College of Medicine, Massey and Smith College Business College, and Richmond College. There will be two hours of fun and entertainment. The various organizations of the city are invited, and the ladies of the city are invited. The ladies of the city are invited."

In the answer and exhibits, it set up that in 1830 a nave, nearly as large as the original church, was added to the church. In 1850 a vestry was added to the south side of the church. In 1851 an application was made to the Council for permission to erect a new building on the lot 97 and 98. In 1856, in recognition of the church, lots Nos. 111 and 112, the vestry made application to the City Council for permission to erect a wooden building or school-house on the lot 111, and adjoining the southern wall, and the ground slopes down considerably at that place, but little excavation will be necessary, and the building will be a permanent one. It is to be a fireproof building, and the vestry of St. John's Church, which is one of the secretaries of the international committee of the associations, and is ranked by many as the greatest speaker in the world to men, Mr. Virgo is from Australia, and is a leading one. Last night a dinner and reception were given to these two distinguished guests by the board of directors of the Richmond Association. To the social to-night all senior members are invited, with their men friends, also students of the Medical College of Virginia, the University College of Medicine, Massey and Smith College Business College, and Richmond College. There will be two hours of fun and entertainment. The various organizations of the city are invited, and the ladies of the city are invited. The ladies of the city are invited."

George Jackson, colored, appeared yesterday before Judge Ingram, on the charge of being a suspicious character, and was fined $2.00. He was found in the night in the house of Mrs. Julius Stando, where he was acting in a suspicious manner.

HANOVER NEGROES OUT ON WARPATH

Pistol Came Into Play

Duffy Catches Suspected Negro After Chase—Others Under Arrest.

While riding round on his beat last night Officer C. W. Atkinson heard sounds of firing in the direction of North Twenty-sixth Street, and from the noise created by the pistol shots thought pitched battle was in progress. Several negro women soon appeared and implored the officer to go to the scene of the firing. They were much frightened, fearing that they were all going to be killed at once.

Atkinson, summoned help from the First Police Station, and Policeman E. W. Crump responded. Together the two officers went to the scene of action, and found a crowd of negroes congregated in and about No. 1215 North Twenty-sixth Street. Atkinson stated to the officers that the firing had been done by a party of Hanover negroes, who had been shooting at a man named Fields, for what reason could not be learned.

The negroes had disappeared, having taken the dusty way to Hanover. It was alleged that the house at No. 1215 is almost nightly the scene of clapping and much rowdiness, and Officer Atkinson, sworn out as a warrant against the inmates, charging them with keeping a disorderly place. Those caught in the house were Hattie Anderson, George W. Field, Flake Stewart and Juliet Mitchell.

Officer Duffy was also sent to the house last night. On his way he saw William Henderson, colored, running down Twenty-fifth Street. The officer gave chase, and caught the fleeing negro within a block. The fugitive has a revolver on his person, and was charged that he had done some of the shooting. Henderson, who is but eighteen years old, seemed to care little that he was under arrest. He laughed and talked with the officer and negroes standing round, and then drew forth a battered mouthpiece, which he discarded, saying that it was placed in the patrol wagon with the others.
